Dear Patrick

This is a short note to thank you so much for your involvement in the Soweto Festival. The participation of all the various divisions of Oasys contributed significantly to the overall success of the event. The extent of the project was really ambitious and you and your team handled all the challenges with great enthusiasm and aplomb. We really all found it a great pleasure to have made your acquaintance as a result of the project and thoroughly enjoyed working with you. I would like to reiterate what I said to you on the phone the other day in terms of the unbelievably cooperative and friendly service we received from your team at all times – a real “can do” attitude which makes all the difference to event organizers!

This year’s Soweto Festival exceeded all our expectations. With the sponsorship of the City of Johannesburg and other key corporate sponsors, it achieved record media coverage and attendance figures and was endorsed by the broad Soweto community. The range of activities was greater than ever before, with the Standard Bank Youth Zone and the Storytelling Boma contributing to the Festival’s focus on arts, culture, heritage and youth development, while the Shoprite Taste Sensation added glamour and style to the event. Over 100 Soweto small businesses exhibited at the event and added that unique Soweto atmosphere which makes this event so special. The accompanying articles in Sowetan and Daily Sun give you a sense of how the event was received by the media.

We very much look forward to your continued involvement in the Festival next year and beyond and will be soon be engaging with you to discuss our plans and your future participation.

Best wishes from us all.
